

Danny and the Dinosaur and the New Puppy

By Syd Hoff

GRL J

ABOUT THE BOOK:

Danny loves playing with his new puppy, and together they have fun playing with their friend, the dinosaur. The dinosaur wants to roll over and sit like the puppy does, but because of their size difference, the results are much different! The dinosaur can't help but cause damage, while the puppy elicits praise for his performance. So, to make his dinosaur friend happy, Danny, the puppy, and the dinosaur have a museum sleepover.

DISCUSSION QUESTIONS:

1. Where does the dinosaur find Danny and his new puppy? What are they doing when the dinosaur joins them?
2. How does the dinosaur's size affect his ability to mimic the tricks Danny's new puppy can do?
3. What is Danny's reaction to the dinosaur when he performs the tricks? How does the dinosaur respond to Danny and the puppy?
4. Why do Danny and the puppy spend the night with the dinosaur in the museum?

EXTENSION ACTIVITIES:

Dinosaur Look-Alike: Ask students to look at pictures of dinosaurs and, based on his physical appearance, identify the type of dinosaur that Danny's friend most closely resembles. After students identify a dinosaur similar to Danny's friend, ask them to make a list of the common characteristics and draw a picture of the real dinosaur. Display the pictures in the classroom.

Friends Come in All Sizes: Danny and his animal friends could not be any more different in size, but they still enjoy playing and spending time with each other. Have students brainstorm what is important in a friendship. Then ask students to write a paragraph explaining the reason size doesn't matter in a friendship and to include in their writing what really is important in every friendship. Have students read their paragraphs to the class.

Real vs. Make-Believe: Some parts of Danny and the Dinosaur and the New Puppy could actually happen while others could not. Working with a partner, students should make a chart with two columns on a sheet of paper. The heading of the first column should be "Real," and the heading of the other column should be "Make Believe." Have students write or draw elements of the story that apply in each column. Then discuss with students the difference between fiction and nonfiction.
